TopBalance

A perfectly balanced finish, leading to the beauty and the reputation of Model® flooring.

The Model Plus polyurethane finish took years of expertise and research to develop in order to achieve a perfect balance between bonding, abrasion resistance, appearance and resilience. These properties are crucial aspects of flooring durability and the maintaining of a beautiful gloss finish. We achieved this remarkable balance, once again placing Model Hardwood one step ahead of the competition.

Bonding

During the manufacturing process, Model® uses special technology to bond the finish to the wood.

Abrasion

In order to pass the test of time, Model® applies its exclusive Model Plus polyurethane finish to each board. Model Plus contains aluminium oxide, making it the most durable finish on the market. This innovation allows Model boards to maintain their glossy appearance over a very long period.

Appearance

Model® applies nine coats of Model Plus polyurethane to each board, achieving a finish so impressive that industry experts consider it as good as the finish found on furniture.

Resilience

In addition to complying with durability requirements, Model® has achieved the best hardness/resilience ratio in the industry. This flexibility prevents the Model® finish from chipping or flaking upon impact.
