Geisha

Serving love and passion, projecting an aura of secrecy and mystery, upholding honour and pride. Evocative red beckons those who shun the limitations imposed by reality and are enticed by the forbidden.

Punalu'u

Located on the largest of the Hawaiian Islands, Punalu'u is one of the most unusual beaches in the world. The exceptional colour of its sand blends in with volcanic rock.

Aruba

If the wind had a colour, it would be the colour of the island of Aruba and its breathtaking turquoise landscape softly caressed by the warmth of all-day sunshine. Aruba is reserved for exclusive use: no half measures here!

1969

We dedicated the colour 1969 to innovators for whom the word limit is not in their vocabulary. For those who choose this colour, what counts is the achievement of goals. Provocative at best, 1969 blends in easily with a highly-defined ambience and a search for perfection.

Akoya

The first cultured pearl was created some 150 years ago by a Japanese pearl farmer who inserted a bead nucleus between the mantle and shell of an Akoya oyster. Like the pearl, Akoya flooring is valued for its gloss, rarity, blemish-free surfaces and cream colouring with subtle undertones of rose-tinged mother-of-pearl.

Cleopatra

As with this most flamboyant of queens, conquest by way of wealth and gold will appeal to those undaunted by the fear of being different. With an aura of sensuality, Cleopatra flooring, combined with the colours of the earth, will project an atmosphere of wellbeing and comfort.

Criollo

This tree produces the most sought-after cacao beans in the world. Criollo beans dominated the market until the mid 1700s. At present, only a few strains of pure Criollo exist. To honour its survival, we chose a colour both rich in meaning and history.

Earl Grey

Like the sun's autumn rays filtering through the windowpanes of the living room at teatime, this rich colour was inspired by the delicate combination of spices found in Earl Gray tea.
